200 + Money Making Ideas

More than Enough

There are more than enough opportunities available to make money – whether it is just to supplement your income or to create a fulltime income for yourself. Or even more important, to have something in place if you become a victim of retrenchment. Finding the right opportunity that would suit you, can be a troublesome job! Some opportunities need specific skills and others might need a lot of money to start. In all of them you need to position yourself right for maximum success. If your competitors are better than you, you will get less of the market.

In the Abundance Builder Programme you can acquire those skills that can give you an advantage point over your competitors in a practical way.

You will have coaching to help you refine those skills and improve your chances for success in any other business. During the one-year programme, you can already start earning some income while you learn, but most importantly, start building a network – the most important asset any business can acquire.

In any business you need to be disciplined since there may be many distractors, but once you have the discipline you will do just fine.

Whether you choose the business opportunity as in the Abundance Builder Programme or any other business opportunity, with time, you will probably make more returns than what an employed person makes.

You do not need to have a business or a business idea while you are doing the Abundance Builder Programme – the practical part of the programme is included and can be as little as R279 pm.

In South Africa, it is illegal to ask a jobseeker to pay money towards finding work. Any job opportunity that is offered where the recruiter is trying to solicit money should ring huge warning bells. Some may say that you need to pay a training fee, but stay away from anything like that. If there is an agency involved, the agency will seek a fee from the employer, not the jobseeker.
